Dear NLOs and NLAs,

This is to circulate the information on an opportunity for potential qualified candidates to the 4-year Radiation Disaster Medicine Course of the Phoenix Programme of Hiroshima University.

In collaboration with the Director of NAHU, Ms May Abdel Wahab, we are launching for the first time, support for limited number of accepted candidates to this programme through the relevant TCAP regional project. The programme will start in October 2021 and the application process is ongoing.

We thus look forward to qualified nominations to this endeavour.

Details can be found in

<http://phoenixprogramlp.hiroshima-u.ac.jp/en/>

Per the prospectus, "...the program aims to nurture the global leaders with basic knowledge of medical science etc who are capable of managing recovery of the radiation disaster comprehensively and interdisciplinary from the stand point of "protecting human lives from radiation disasters," "protecting the environment from radioactivity" and "protecting children and society from radioactivity." The prospective applicants should include those:

(1) who desire to contribute to the social development with interdisciplinary knowledge and skills

(2) who understand the suffering of others and desire to contribute to the recovery of radiation disaster

(3) who desire to be the leader playing an active role in the regional and global society

(4) who have high motivation, ability of taking actions, responsibility and people skills"
